SPIDRES PUT UP GREAT CONTEST

Richmond Team Had to Play Hard to Win from Local Collegians.

GAME WAS WORTH SEEING

Close Score of Ten to Seven. Salve, Still and Cassidy.

The Richmond team had no cinch yesterday at Broad Street Park when they ran up against the College Spiders. The youngsters gave the professionals all they could do to win out, and they actually put still out of business in one inning. The contest was in poor form, and allowed the Collegians to wallop him freely in the one inning, giving two hits and a wild pitch. No one expected the college to do much, as it is known he has not had much time to sharpen up, but the youngsters did have the laugh on him.

The crowd was distressingly small for the style of game, which was by no means a backlot affair. The boys went in like winners, and cleared the plate for two runs in the first inning. This put ginger in their make-up, and all through, with the exception of one inning, the Shaffers had to get up and hustle for victory. The collegians worked the bases like precision, and their good work in this respect reflected upon their trainer in a complimentary way. They hit the ball out and got around the path like Comanches on the warpath. The little crowd of rooters in the bleachers kept the welkin in that vicinity ringing with their yell, and it is due a lot to say that this aided the players in holding their good work to the pitch.

The professionals did not show up as well as they have been doing, although they had foemen worthy their steel in the youngsters. The hard hitters did little in their line, and most of the hits recorded were of the dinky kind. Hinton, Hoffman and Cowan excelled in stick work, and Reeve put in some practice on the bunt. The players have not yet caught their wind, and their sprinting is not what it will be before the season opens up. Salve has not settled down yet, but Cassidy looked fit. He bore his regulation style, and put them over like midseason times. Cowan worked hard at first base, and handled some dangerous-looking ones. Kirkpatrick did some good ground-scrapping around third, but he has not yet got his eye on the ball. O'Neil gains in favor, and Reeve will be able to hold his own against any of them.

Game in Detail.
In the first inning, after one man had died, Gardner landed on the ball for a hit out in deep right for three bags, and a moment later he scored on Salve's fumble of Richardson's grounder. Richardson stole second, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Martin's sacrifice. Brown, for the professionals, was hit by a wild pitch, and scored on hits by Reeve and Timman.

The second inning was different. Two men had passed up, when Salve handed Gwathmey a good one on the shoulder, and he walked. G. Wright singled, and the runner ahead of him reached third base, and scored on the attempt to catch Wright at second. Richmond got in the game good and hard in their half. Twelve men went to bat, seven runs resulting from six hits, a wild pitch and two errors.

After that disastrous inning the collegians pulled themselves together and held the professionals down, while they themselves crept upward. Richmond made another run in the third inning. Brown beat out a bunt, got to second on Reeve's out at first, and scored on Gwathmey's error.

The Collegians made a run in the sixth. Martin singled, and D. Wright duplicated the work, sending Martin to third. Then, on Wright's steal, the man on third scored. Three runs were made in the next inning. G. Wright starting the trouble. He singled, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on Lodge's two-bagger. The latter scored on Gardner's out at first, and Richardson was safe on Kirkpatrick's error in throwing the ball away. He scored later on Martin's out at second, where he was nailed from Hinton to O'Neil. That was all.

Cowan made the last run for Richmond in the seventh. He was given a pass, went down on Hinton's single, took third on Cassidy's sacrifice, and scored on Brown's out at first.

The game was well worth looking at, and the Collegians showed themselves to be very fast on bases and good with the bat. They will cut some figure in college ball this season. Here is the score of the game:

PROMISING NEW PITCHER.

J. A. MULHALL, PITCHER.

Mulhall, one of the pitchers Manager Shaffer has on his string, was born in New York in 1888. He is five feet ten, and weighs 160 pounds. "Mull" started to play ball with an amateur team when he was eighteen years old, and at the age of nineteen broke into semi-professional ball with the famous Kid Carey team of Brooklyn, where he was a star. He was then transferred to the strong Brooklyn T. C. team, winning eighteen games and losing nine. Last year he played with the champion New Brunswick, of Jersey City, winning sixteen games and losing but two. This team appeared against some of the strongest teams in the East. The youngster has done lots of good work, and great things are expected of him this season with Richmond.

NEW YORK TEAM NOW IN RICHMOND

Elberfeld Could Not Appear Because of His Wife's Illness.

M'GUIRE HAS CHARGE OF MEN

Will Put Up a Swift Game Today With Shaffer's Men.

The New York Americans, or what is left of them on their way home, reached Richmond last night from Atlanta. They will go up against the Richmond team at Broad Street Park this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and from the make-up of the team, which will be mostly of pitchers, a rattling good game is likely to result.

Neither Elberfeld, Orth, Griffith nor Chase is here with the team. They will all be at the game in Baltimore next week. Elberfeld's wife is ill, and he had to go on home from Atlanta, although his wife is now better. It was a great disappointment for the little fellow, as he had been looking forward to his trip to Richmond, where he has so many friends and admirers. Chase will not join the team until later, and Griffith has gone home to make arrangements for the opening of the season.

McGuire, who has charge of the "hunch," said last night that his men were fast getting into shape, and he expects the boys to land the pennant this season.

Chesbro is not on the club. Thomas said last night that he was out of baseball for the present at least, and would hardly get back this season. Among those here are two catchers, and two outfielders and six pitchers, among the latter being Keefe, who will pitch in today's game.

The line-up will be something like this: McGuire, catcher; Keefe, pitcher; Thomas, first base; Barger, second base; Clark, third base; Doyle, shortstop; Johnson, Castleton and Riggs in the outfield, and Hughes, extra pitcher.

Were Played Out.
The men were pretty well played out when they reached here after the long trip from Atlanta. They went to the Allen, had supper, and most of them retired shortly after that. They look rested and in shape, but they say they are still chasing after "condition," and will not be satisfied until the last day of the preliminary season.

McGuire looks as young as he did fifteen years ago, and he says he is just as active. He carries the same old baseball in his eyes, and the same jolly laugh. McGuire is probably the veteran ball-player of the country, and has helped many clubs on the way. He is now in his own in the big league, while scores of younger men have dropped back into the water of the club.

"We are going in from the jump this season to get a cinch on the pennant," he said last night, "and if we do not, the other fellows will know that we are not to be taken for granted. We will have to fight like the mischief to beat us out."

Elberfeld was very much disappointed in not being able to come with us to his old town. I have heard him speak many a time in affectionate terms of his old friends here, and of his old captain, Jake Wells. He says if it had not been for his early training under Wells he would never have risen to the place he now holds in the big league.

Manager Shaffer was around with the men for a while last night, and Maguire Bradley was on hand to shake hands with the visitors. The team to-day will be made up about as it was yesterday against the Collegians, and Long, Mulhall and Cassidy will probably be in the box during the game.

DELAWARE WINS.

Game With Carolina Was Slow and Full of Errors.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 4.—Carolina was defeated this evening in a slow game by the University of Delaware, with a score of 8 to 6. The game was a slow one, full of errors by both sides. The chief features of the game were errors and poor pitching. Carolina tried to make the most of its errors, but all of them were equally unsuccessful in winning the game for Carolina. Story, for Carolina, pitched the first three innings; Morrow, the second three, and Captain Thompson, the remainder. A story, a pitcher, Doane, in the sixth inning, but only scored one run. Delaware made five runs in the third inning, thus practically winning the game.

The line-up of the teams was: Carolina—James, third base; Whitaker, shortstop; Thompson, left field; Hamilton, first base; Story, center field; Montgomery, second base; Rogers, catcher; Morrow, pitcher; Raney, right field.

Boys

Tell each other that Tyler's School Suits are the best, and as a rule the majority of boys have their preference where to buy clothes. Mothers prefer our clothes because they save them the harrowing "rip-worries," and still they cost less than other sorts less good. Bring in the boy for a new Spring Suit. Prices $2.00 up to $10.00.

Boys' separate Knee Pants, sizes up to 18 years. Suits for overgrown boys up to 18 years.

VIRGINIA WINS FROM QUAKERS

Captures Second Game from Pennsy in Easy Style—Score, 5 to 2.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., April 4.—Virginia took the second game from Pennsylvania in easy style, 5 to 2. For seven innings the Quakers were blanked, Susong allowing but two hits and his teammates giving him almost perfect support.

In the eighth, after Webb had walked, Captain Judd singled to center, scoring Webb. In the ninth, Pennell counted on Henry's slashing drive. Pennsylvania's twirler, Layton, was touched up pretty freely, Captain Walker and Honaker each getting triples. Susong also got in two in a faultless game, Brown being loudly applauded for a sensational catch of a foul.
